Prepare both a one paragraph summary and a comprehensive description of the resource and its various elements as it exists today.

The Warfield Farm includes an outstanding collection of buildings located south of the community of Damascus, on Woodfield Road. The 78.5-acre property is located along Great Seneca Creek. The collection of buildings including dwelling and farm buildings is clustered in about an 800-square foot area. The remainder of the acreage is mainly open pastureland, with the exception of wooded land along Great Seneca Creek in the northeastern portion of the property.

The house was built between about 1900 and 1902. The ell-shaped structure faces west. The main block is a three bay center cross gable structure with a full width porch. The roof is standing seam metal. The windows are two over two and have wooden sashes. The house has a stone foundation and now has vinyl siding.

The bank barn was built about the same time as the dwelling, c1901-1903. Painted on windows, popular during this period are still visible. The barn has gables with battens and a corrugated metal roof with lightning rods. The bank barn rests on a stone foundation. In the lower part of the barn there are six over six windows. The stable side of the barn is sheathed with corrugated metal and also with weatherboard siding. There is a loafing shed located perpendicular to the stable courtyard.

A corn crib on the north side of the driveway has board and batten siding and a corrugated metal roof. The crib is a timber frame building set on stone piers and was built with cut nails. A mostly collapsed smokehouse stands behind the dwelling house.

The farm also has a concrete block dairy barn and milk house. The roof of this building is of corrugated metal. It has quoins of rusticated concrete block while the rest of the exterior concrete blocks are smooth faced. Attached is a tile silo with no roof.

Prepare a one-paragraph summary statement of significance addressing applicable criteria, followed by a narrative discussion of the history of the resource and its context. (For compliance projects, complete evaluation on a DOE Form - see manual.)

The Warfield Farm is an outstanding and cohesive example of a turn of the twentieth century farmstead. The Gothic Revival indfluenced house and bank barn date from about 1900. The complex includes a board and batten corn crib and concrete block dairy barn. The farm has remained in the ownership of the same family for over a century.

George W. Warfield (1864-1954) and Mary E. (1871-1914) bought 137 acres from Jacob Young at an auction in 1898, paying $2768.77. The couple had married about 1893 and had a five-year-old son, Elisha.¹ The Warfields About two years later, they built the house and bank barn. Living with the couple and their son was George's mother Elizabeth Warfield (b1825).² The 137-acre property was on part of tracts called Delay and Hutchcraft Range. Mary E. died in 1914. George died in 1954.³

Jacob Young (1794-1875) had purchased the farm in 1849 from Elisha and Elizabeth Etchison, for $550. Young died in 1875. His wife Sarah died in 1896 and son Elisha S. died by 1898 and property sold at auction.⁴ The property is said to have had a house dating from the 18th century that was inhabited by Zachariah Thompson, postmaster. Evan Thompson was the grantor of this property in 1838. Zachariah Thompson died in 1824, leaving land on Hutchcraft's Range to his son Evan. The dwelling house on the same tract was inherited by his sisters Harriott and Cordelisa.⁵
